Body Systems Affected by Stress:

1. Nervous System
2. Musculoskeletal System
3. Respiratory System
4. Cardiovascular System
5. Endocrine System
6. Gastrointestinal System
7. Reproductive System

Here are ways in which some key body systems react.

1. NERVOUS SYSTEM
When stressed — physically or psychologically — the body suddenly shifts its energy resources to fighting off the perceived threat. In what is known as the “fight or flight” response, the sympathetic nervous system signals the adrenal glands to release adrenaline and cortisol. These hormones make the heart beat faster, raise blood pressure, change the digestive process and boost glucose levels in the bloodstream. Once the crisis passes, body systems usually return to normal.

2. MUSCULOSKELETAL SYSTEM
Under stress, muscles tense up. The contraction of muscles for extended periods can trigger tension headaches, migraines and various musculoskeletal conditions.

3. RESPIRATORY SYSTEM
Stress can make you breathe harder and cause rapid breathing — or hyperventilation — which can bring on panic attacks in some people.

4. CARDIOVASCULAR SYSTEM
Acute stress — stress that is momentary, such as being stuck in traffic — causes an increase in heart rate and stronger contractions of the heart muscle. Blood vessels that direct blood to the large muscles and to the heart dilate, increasing the amount of blood pumped to these parts of the body. Repeated episodes of acute stress can cause inflammation in the coronary arteries, thought to lead to heart attack.

5. ENDOCRINE SYSTEM
Adrenal glands
When the body is stressed, the brain sends signals from the hypothalamus, causing the adrenal cortex to produce — cortisol and the adrenal medulla to produce — epinephrine — sometimes called the “stress hormones.”

Liver
When cortisol and epinephrine are released, the liver produces more glucose, a blood sugar that would give you the energy for “fight or flight” in an emergency.

6. GASTROINTESTINAL SYSTEM
Esophagus
Stress may prompt you to eat much more or much less than you usually do. If you eat more or different foods or increase your use of tobacco or alcohol, you may experience heartburn, or acid reflux.

Stomach
Your stomach can react with “butterflies” or even nausea or pain. You may vomit if the stress is severe enough.

Bowel
Stress can affect digestion and which nutrients your intestines absorb. It can also affect how quickly food moves through your body. You may find that you have either diarrhea or constipation.

7. REPRODUCTIVE SYSTEM
In men, excess amounts of cortisol, produced under stress, can affect the normal functioning of the reproductive system. Chronic stress can impair testosterone and sperm production and cause impotence.

In women, stress can cause absent or irregular menstrual cycles or more-painful periods. It can also reduce sexual desire.
Do You Experience Any of These Symptoms?

Emotional Symptoms:

Do you think to yourself:

I am full of fears that I can’t get out of my mind.

I feel like something terrible is going to happen.

I worry excessively.

I feel uneasy and alone a lot of the time.

I often feel isolated, lonely, down in the dumps, and depressed.

I feel I have no control over what happens to me.

I feel embarrassed, rejected, and criticized.

I often feel like screaming with anger.

Physiological Symptoms:

Do you feel:

Weak all over?

Rapid, pounding heartbeat or palpitations?

Tightness around your chest?

Hyperventilation (a feeling that you cannot get enough air)?

Periodic dizziness and sweating?

Muscle tension, aches, or tremors?

Chronic fatigue?

Cognitive Symptoms:

Do you think to yourself:

I can’t carry on. I’ve got to get out of here.

What if I make a fool of myself?

People are looking at me all the time.

I’m having a heart attack.

I’m going to faint.

I’m going crazy.

I can’t go on alone; no one will help me.

I can’t go out; I will lose control.

I feel confused and can’t remember things.
“Be anxious for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God; and the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus” (Philippians 4:6-7).
There is Healing

Overcoming Stress

You can calm the waves of stress by:

1. Reframing the situation—changing your thoughts from end-of-the-word scenario to a more neutral perspective.

   For example, changing your inner dialogue from “I’m not going to make it – I can’t take this anymore – I can’t stand it – Get me out of here!” to “This is not my preference, however the Word says...”

   (I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me; With God, all things are possible; God has not given me a spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind!”)

2. Building your resilience to stress by maintaining positive health habits, such as good nutrition and regular cleansing.

3. Learning coping skills, such as the relaxation techniques of deep diaphragmatic breathing, muscular relaxation, Christian meditation, and quiet time—take a walk in nature, if you can.

4. Having a strong support system of friends and relatives. Don’t go it alone.

5. Keeping creative time and fun as a part of your life.

7. Improving your self-esteem—Better yet, improving your esteem of the Lord and His Word in your life. Be transformed by the renewal of your mind! (Romans 12:2).
Problems with Meditation and Yoga
What the Bible Calls Meditation

• “This Book of the Law shall not depart from your mouth, but you shall MEDITATE in it day and night, that you may observe to do according to all that is written in it. For then you will make your way prosperous, and then you will have good success” (Joshua 1:8).

• “But his delight is in the law of the LORD, And in His law he MEDITATES day and night” (Psalm 1:2).

• “When I remember You on my bed, I MEDITATE on You in the night watches” (Psalm 63:6).

• “You will keep him in perfect peace, Whose mind is stayed on You, Because he trusts in You” (Isaiah 26:3).
Christian/Biblical Meditation

- Christian Meditation – what is it? It’s NOT guided imagery, visualizations, out-of-body experiences, subconscious suggestion, hypnosis or mental manipulation.

- Christian Meditation is very different from Eastern meditation. It requires a fully engaged mind, NOT an “empty mind.”

- Christian Meditation is NOT an altered state of consciousness, “contemplative prayer” (“Centering Prayer” or “spiritual formation”) — these are NOT Biblical meditation. We do NOT enter a trance-like state.

- Meditation is different. While prayer (talking and listening to God) is a vital part of our relationship with Jesus Christ, meditation is a bit different — although it does involve our relationship with the Holy Spirit, our Teacher and Guide.

- In Hebrew, “haghah” is “to meditate” = “to murmur; to mutter; to sigh” — when done in the heart, this is considered “musing, or meditation.”
Chew on this for a while!

• In Hebrew, meditation carries with it the unappealing, but descriptive picture of “a cow chewing the cud” – the idea being that we “chew” the Word, “swallow it,” and then bring it back up to chew it some more throughout our day as new truths and revelations are revealed.

• Ruminate! Cows are ruminant animals.

• Meditating on the Word of God day and night means to speak to yourself the Word of God day and night and to speak to yourself about it.

• Ruminate (chew) on the Word!
Meditation in Bible Times

According to Zodhiates’ AMG Complete Word Study:

“It is possible that the Scriptures were read audibly during the process of meditation.”
